Section 1 Assignment: Are You an Entrepreneur?

Entrepreneurs share many similar personal characteristics. By examining your personal traits, you will discover the characteristics you have that are important for entrepreneurial success.

10

1. Examine your personal characteristics and list five in the chart that follows. For each characteristic, list a behaviour (activity) of yours that supports the personal trait. An example is given for you.

Note: To do question 1, you can use the results from the assessment activities you completed in Section 1.

Personal Characteristic	Behaviour
innovative	I find creative solutions for problems, such as growing a garden when money is scarce.

2. What are your goals, aspirations, dreams, hobbies, and interests?

3. Summarize all the entrepreneurial skills you possess and examine the skills you may need to improve or develop, and indicate how you will do this. For example, I am not very good at persuading people. I could join the debate team or the drama club to improve this skill.

4. Are you interested in entrepreneurship as a career? Why or why not?

Section 2 Assignment: Ideas and Opportunities

Ventures start from combining an idea and an opportunity. With some ventures, the opportunity develops the ideas. In others, the ideas are developed first and then the opportunities are found. Edward de Bono's thinking hats and Roger von Oech's character roles can be helpful when generating ideas, analyzing opportunities, and solving problems.

1. What are two ideas for ventures? The focus is on creativity. You will be marked on the effort you show in applying strategies to generate and assess ideas. Indicate the source of your ideas and explain it. Remember the sources for ideas given in this section. Try to show your exercises in creative right-brain thinking. You may use your answer from the “Guide for Turning Your Interests into Income” in Lesson 1 of Section 2 for one of your venture ideas. Refer to “Quick Thoughts for Business Ideas” on page 63 of the Student Module Booklet or the Creative Department graphic on page 66.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

10

2. Analyze your two ideas from question 1 by using either Edward de Bono's thinking hats or Roger von Oech's character roles or both.
